

Election Tuesday for schools, BAC

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
for the Press-Record

Issues facing area voters in next Tuesday's election will be the question of home rule for Madison residents and which candidates in the Granite City, Madison and Venice areas should be elected to steer local school districts through fiscally demanding times.

Although Madison aldermen are backing the home rule referendum to generate income for the city through the operation of a city-owned cable television system, home rule opponents see the change as an opportunity for the city to increase its taxing powers.

Those opponents, including the Madison Concerned Citizens Against Home Rule, have fought the referendum, which would free the city from many state-imposed regulations, among them tax restrictions and rules hamstringing the city's efforts to fund a cable system.

In addition to home rule, Madison voters will be asked to select two school board members.

School districts also filling board

Home rule decision on line for Madison voters vacancies will be Granite City's Community Unit District 3 and Belleville Area College.

Granite City school board incumbents Thomas Miosky, board president, and L. Monroe Worthen, are seeking to regain their two four-year seats in District 3. Challenger Donald L. Gargac, who previously ran unsuccessfully for the school board, is joined by Raymond E. McGee, Valerie K. Stevens, Julie Janelle Gates and Ernie J. Gyaki, all seeking the four-year seats.

Incumbent Granite City School Board Member E. Dewey Melton, appointed this spring to fill the position left when former Board President Steven Sallich was elected an alderman, is running for the remaining two years of Sallich's unexpired term. Alan R. Cridder also is seeking the two-year seat.

Only one incumbent, Billie Bosworth, is in the race for two four-year terms in Madison's District 12. Board member Richard Zeisel, whose term expires in November, will not seek re-election.

Others on the ballot for board positions are Ed Dohal, Donald R. Boyer and Helen Ruth King.

The race for Venice school board is uncontested with three candidates on the ballot for three positions — two four-year terms and a single two-year term. Incumbents George W. Wade Jr. and Alvisier Salmond are seeking two-year seats.

Bernice Savage, whose name will appear on the ballot for the one year term, has announced her withdrawal.

Stores begin collecting tax

Legality is still uncertain

Granite City residents began paying an added one percent sales tax yesterday despite automobile dealer Bill Woodrome's complaint filed five days before in Edwardsville circuit court seeking an injunction to halt the tax on the grounds that it is unconstitutional.

A meeting Thursday with Madison County Associate Circuit Judge Edward Ferguson resulted in attorneys for both sides agreeing to hold a formal court hearing on the legality of the tax on Nov. 12.

Even with the threatened injunction pending, under the new city sales tax ordinance, area merchants are now required to begin recording their gross receipts in preparation for a regularly monthly return most merchants will have to file with the city's newly created Department of Revenue.

In less than a month and a half, city administrators were able to complete the mechanism necessary to collect the tax, including writing a new tax rate table (based on 6 1/2 percent tax for non-food items and 4 1/2 percent tax on food items), locating and notifying all retailers within the city of their new obligations, and creating the city's own version of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The revised tax tables were rushed to area merchants just before the tax went into effect.

Most Granite City stores contacted yesterday were charging the added one percent sales tax, but employees at those stores contacted where the manager was absent were uncertain whether or not customers were being charged the tax.

Only one store, K Mart, was not charging the tax during the weekend.

Assistant Manager William Durbin said the store would begin charging the tax as soon as the cash registers were reprogrammed for the new tax.

Durbin said National Cash Register had already been contacted to service the machines. The assistant manager said it would be "very much" of an expense to have the 15 to 20 registers reprogrammed, especially if the court then orders an injunction stopping collection of the tax, and the machines have to be reprogrammed again.

An employee of Carp's Department Store said customer reaction to the new tax was "not good." A clerk said, "Some people yesterday (Saturday) said that was the last day they'd shop in the store."

A Reese Drug Stores representative said, "People were under the impression that it (the new tax) is not an ordinance."

Some clerks operating programmed cash registers said they were unaware whether or not their machines had been reprogrammed to charge the new tax and others were unaware of the requirement for the new one percent tax.

Mayor Paul Schuler and Woodrome were excluded from most of the preliminary court discussion held last Thursday, when Judge Ferguson met with City Attorney John Papa, Assistant City Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. and with William Lucco and Joseph

Program for small industry

Tax-free bonds are offered

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

With the finalizing of an industrial sewage pretreatment ordinance by the Granite City Council last week, some local industries may soon find that they will be required to do some form of pretreatment before discharging industrial wastes into the Granite City sanitary sewers.

Financing of the equipment needed to do the actual pretreatment, whether it requires filters, recycling or other treatment, may be a problem for some small businesses. "We can help," says Ronald Bean, executive director of the Illinois Environmental Facilities Financing Authority (IEFFA), an authority created by the state of Illinois to assist small businesses in financing equipment for pollution control.

Bean explained that the authority combines pollution control projects for several small businesses or industries into larger multi-million projects and then sells Triple-A tax-exempt bonds, which are guaranteed by the Small Business Administration, enabling the small businesses to obtain the money for as little as half the cost of conventional bank loans. After the bonds are sold, the money is distributed to the businesses and industries which were "lumped together" for that bond program and are repaid to IEFFA by the companies the same as any other revenue bonds.

"We want to get the word out. A lot of small businesses do not know we exist and we can help them, Bean said, adding, "Two kinds of businesses in the state are taking advantage of this program. One type is manufacturing or processing companies which need equipment to control pollution caused by their facilities in order to comply with governmental environmental protection regulations.

"The second," he explained, "is companies whose business is controlling pollution caused by others. A solid waste disposal company is one example."

The combination of the SBA guaranteeing repayment of the bonds and the Internal Revenue Service exempting interest paid to the purchasers of the bonds from federal income tax gives the bonds a AAA rating (Moody's) and "produces attractive investment instruments for the underwriter to offer to institutional and private markets," Bean said.

"With these bonds, companies can raise capital at a reduced interest rate. In addition to this, the repayment is extended to the life of the equipment, usually 20 or more years."

"Without this program, a small business obtaining a conventional bank loan would probably pay two or three points above prime interest rate. Under current conditions, this would mean paying 12 to 14 percent interest over five to six years," he explained.

IEFFA can, in some cases, finance the projects for half off that, he noted. IEFFA has financed some projects for Illinois Power Co., but its services are relatively unknown in this area.

"With all the advantages of the program, you might think that we would be inundated with applications,

Rep. Steele won't run for re-election

State Representative Everett G. Steele, (R-Glen Carbon) will not seek re-election in 1982 to the Illinois House of Representatives, upon completion of his fourth term in the legislature. He issued today the following statement:

"I am today announcing that I will not seek re-election to the Illinois General Assembly in 1982.

"I have appreciated the opportunity to serve the citizens of our area during four years in the Illinois House of Representatives. In the past two elections, the voters of our 36th District have favored me with the highest vote in Madison County among the legislative candidates.

"With new district boundaries recently created, I feel that I could again be a successful candidate, although an extremely active campaign would be required."

"However, I have recently become involved with new business activities which would place limits both on the time I could campaign, as well as my full-time service as a legislator.

"Thomas Jefferson stated that service in a legislative body should be seen as a 'tour of duty' in government, rather than as a career.

"I support this view, and believe it is extremely important that our legislative bodies continue to comprise citizens from various walks of life, rather than only those who engage in politics as a permanent profession.

"When I first ran for office, our state was in the throes of excessive spending, with continuous deficit budgets.

"I have had the opportunity to serve on the House Appropriations Committee, where I could be directly involved in the process of restoring fiscal

Police nab 2 after robbery

Alert efforts by store employees, a customer and Granite City police were credited with leading to the capture of two men after a Halloween night armed robbery in which a man wore a Halloween mask.

Police retrieved a brown grocery bag containing $602 that had been taken from cash registers at the Farm Fresh Store, 3228 Nameoki Road, at 7:50 p.m. Saturday. Area police had been asked at 6:45 p.m. Saturday to watch for a brown station wagon occupied by a man who had worn a mask and wielded a gun to carry out a robbery in St. Louis.

The auto fled from St. Louis over the McKinley Bridge and headed south on Illinois Route Three in Venice.

An hour later, a foot chase after the Granite City store robbery revealed that two men had escaped from the store area in a brown station wagon.

Two Quad-City police cars were advised of the description of the two robberies' getaway cars. An officer saw such a vehicle pass the Granite City police building, headed south in the 2200 block of Madison Avenue. The word went out to policemen, including one who had stationed himself at 18th Street and Madison Avenue.

When the station wagon, appeared at that location shortly before 8 p.m. Saturday, it made a right turn into a service station at 1817 Madison Ave. Two men left the auto as an officer approached with his revolver drawn.

One clutching a brown bag ran when ordered to halt, and was pursued on foot to a point on 18th Street 60 feet west of Madison Avenue.

There, he was caught by Officer Kenneth Crawford and placed under arrest.

Other police, meanwhile, had captured the other man at the service station.

Those jailed were a 32-year-old Granite City man, who had the grocery bag with money, and a 39-year-old Missouri man who was the driver of the station wagon.

No formal charges had been filed by this morning. Police took from the Granite City man a .25-caliber automatic pistol which had been carried in the back waistband of his trousers. It contained live ammunition.

A blue and white cap which was knocked off at the store, as an employee playfully pulled down the man's mask, also was taken as evidence.

When the "old man's face" mask was pulled down, revealing the man's face, it was not yet clear that a robbery would be charged. Employees commented that perhaps the man, who held out the grocery bag to them, wanted Halloween "trick or treat" candy.

A short time later, when only one employee was near the cash register area, the bandit held out the bag and said, "The registers."

The clerk failed to respond and the man drew the gun and pointed it at the clerk. After obtaining currency, the man walked away and was chased by one of the store employees and by a customer who had been approaching the store entrance.

The pursuit was along Leonard Avenue and the 2900 block of Myrtle Avenue, where the robber entered the passenger side of an auto that then sped away. The police radio dispatches and capture followed.

Salvation Army honors GC girls

Karla Salsbury and Sonia Bristol, members of The Salvation Army Girl Guards, were honored last week with the presentation of awards. Miss Salsbury, 17, received the Founder's Guard award, the highest honor presented in the Girl Guard program. She is a 1981 graduate of Granite City High School South and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bristol, 3000 Myrtle Ave.

Captain Mrs. Jacob Bender from the Salvation Army Divisional Headquarters in St. Louis presented the medals, which are conferred through the Salvation Army's Chicago office.

To observe the special occasion, a total of 54 guests attended a supper given in Miss Salsbury's honor. The Army's Girl Guard program is for girls 11 through 18 years old and participants meet at the Granite City Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

City-air program awaits state OK

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, who also is the city's air pollution director, is waiting for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) to return a contract with its proposed ideas outlining duties expected of the city's reduced pollution division.

Meanwhile, Alderman Carl Kettel of the Third Ward, a member of the Air Pollution Committee, has requested that an IEPA representative attend the next city council meeting to tell city officials where the city stands in offering air pollution-protection to area residents. "As far as I'm concerned, I don't think we have one (an air pollution control division)," Kettel said.

Alderman Casimir Skubish of the First Ward and chairman of the Air Pollution Committee, read a statement to the city council, asking the city to pay 50 percent of a lost $46,000 air pollution grant. The request for the report had been made by Kettel.

"I have been in constant contact with the state of Illinois IEPA, and we are endeavoring to create a program to replace the old one whereby the state will pay 50 percent share of the operation," Brewer reported.

Brewer expects the state to require the city to make monthly visits to various plants of the Granite City Steel plant. Duties for the city also could include annual inspections of 11 other plants in the city, "which are potentially toxic polluters."

The city also may be obligated to institute a monitoring program to register the effects of efforts to cut parking lot and road dust. In addition, Brewer reported, the city will probably turn over to the state the responsibility for the prevention and control of the monitoring equipment.

The city, in return, will get some reimbursements for the investment the city has put into the equipment exclusive of the federal funds used to purchase some of the equipment.

"The state, of course, would provide full access to the data for our own analysis when necessary," Brewer stated. Brewer wrote that besides the inspection work the state will require the city to conduct "inspections that are required by the various city ordinances."

"It is my understanding that they will not be able to start servicing equipment until they hire and train someone, which may take four or five months," Brewer reported.

Kittel called Brewer's report a "beautiful exercise in verbiage." He called the air quality in the city "terrible and getting worse." Skubish said Brewer told him the city has been notified by Richard Carlson, director of the IEPA, that the city's IEPA grant agreement would be continued until a new city-state air grant contract was reached.

That promise came in the form of a letter from Carlson to William Rotter, chairman of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board. Carlson told the city the federal EPA (U.S. Environmental Protection Agency) suggested to the state that they continue an intergovernmental agreement with Granite City, which was terminated July 28. Carlson wrote that the federal government backed the extension because a continuation of the grant at this time would "promote an orderly transition from direct federal grant assistance to the cost-sharing contract arrangement with IEPA which we are now in the process of negotiating."

The extension deadline, however, expired last Saturday. Carlson warned the city that the "intergovernmental agreement between the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board and the Illinois and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is terminated effective Oct. 31, 1981, or on the effective date of a new agreement, whichever occurs first."

In the past, the state and federal EPA has extended Sept. 1 and Oct. 1 deadlines to give the city more time to reach a new grant agreement.

"The federal people seemed well pleased with the (air pollution) staff prior to the lay off," said Skubish. He said he wanted to discuss both Brewer's status report and Carlson's letter with the Air Pollution Control Board members, who "may have their own views" on any type of new agreement that Brewer might reach with the state.

Skubish said he also is concerned that any new agreement be acceptable to the mayor and aldermen, who could decide to vote against a new air grant proposal for the city. He said he "really believes" the city needs the protection of an air pollution department.

Skubish is concerned, too, that the state might "take money away" from funds that the federal government had been supplying to Granite City.

Under the previous agreement, the federal government had sent grant funds to Granite City based on an agreement between the city and the state. In that agreement, Granite City was to assist the state in its collection of air pollution data.

Under the new proposal, the federal grant will go directly to the state, which can choose to give all or part back to the city.

The state already has indicated it will retain some of the funds to train and hire its own personnel to take daily air monitor reading in the city.

Boy Scouts learn new merit badge

Four Boy Scouts from Troop 96, sponsored by Maryville School PTA, were the first in the area to earn a new merit badge entitled the "Handicapped Awareness" badge.

The Scouts are Mike Charbonnier, David Maxwell, Howard Lynch and Darrell Young.

The Scouts worked on the badge during the summer months, helping and observing at the swimming lessons held for handicapped persons under the direction of JoAnn Higgins. A minimum of fifteen hours is needed.

Literature from various organizations throughout the state was collected and put on display in the Scout office. The merit badge is designed to help young people become more aware of the problems and difficulties that arise in a handicapped person's life and daily routine.

We feel the City Administration has offered its residents many fine services and improvements, which can be seen by taking a ride through our City, at little or no cost to its residents.

We have the faith and confidence in our City Administration to vote for the future improvement of our City and our Fire Department facilities and equipment. We are urging you to join us in voting YES for Home Rule on Tuesday, November 3, 1981.

Two seeking Venice school terms

George W. Wade Jr., and Alvester Salmond, incumbent members of the Venice Board of Education, are unopposed in seeking four-year terms to the board in the Venice School District election Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Bernice Savage, 313 Allen St., Eagle Park, who was a candidate for a two-year term on the board, has officially withdrawn her candidacy and will not participate in Tuesday's election, she informed the Press-Record last week.

"After the first of the year, I am planning to go to school and will not be in this area," she told a reporter. "Maybe at some future time, I would like to try for the board again," she added.

Mrs. Savage's name will appear on the ballot, however. She had filed for the 2 years remaining in the unexpired term of Mrs. Salmond, which ends in November, 1983. Should Mrs.

Savage be elected and then resign, the board must then appoint someone to fill the vacancy.

A write-in candidate could carry the day, but as far as could be determined today, there was no organized write-in campaign underway in Venice.

Wade, 37, of 431 Lincoln Ave., Venice, has served on the Venice School Board for a total of three years and was appointed board secretary in September. Currently, he is completing the extended one-year term he won in the April 1980 election.

He is employed as a chauffeur in the Security Department at Granite City Steel and previously worked as a pre-mix operator in the Nutrena Feeds Division of Cargill, Inc. at the East St. Louis plant.

A veteran of the Vietnam War, Wade served four years in the U.S. Navy, completing his tour of duty in August 1967. He is an active member of the New Salem Baptist Church in Venice and serves as chairman of the church Board of Deacons. He also is a member of New Hope Lodge 22, AF&M.

Wade was born in Pulaski, Ill., and graduated from Lincoln High School in East St. Louis. He also attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for two years. He has resided in Venice for the past six years and previously lived in Madison.

He and his wife, Margaret, are the parents of two children, Wanda, 15, and Kenneth, 12.

Wade said his reasons for seeking re-election to the board are:

"To help to continue to give and make available to our children the highest quality of education that is possible. To be a representative of all the people, for the people and by the people of our district."

Wade stated, "I will constantly strive and work toward helping in the continuing effort to decrease the financial deficit in the Venice School District."

Mrs. Salmond, 39 Hill St., Eagle Park Acres, was appointed to the Venice Board of Education on Oct. 27, 1980, to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of James E. Turner. Due to changes in the state election laws, the appointment was to remain in effect until the November 1983 election.

She has filed as a candidate, however, to fill the four-year vacancy created by Larry W. Boyd's recent resignation, when he moved to Champaign, Ill. Boyd's three-year term expires in November.

Mrs. Salmond, 38, is a lifetime resident of the Quad-City area. She attended Lincoln School in Venice from grades one through 10 and spent her junior and senior years at Madison High School, graduating from there in May, 1961.

Mrs. Salmond attended the P. W. Olin School of Practical Nursing in Alton and graduated as a licensed practical nurse in 1963. She has since been working in the nursing field and is employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mrs. Salmond and her husband, Eddie Lee Salmond, are the parents of two children, both of whom attend the Venice schools. She has been active in several community projects and is a member of the Title VII Advisory Council for the Venice Schools.

Mrs. Salmond commented: "I am for a better educational system and believe that open board meetings are in the best interest of taxpayers, board members, administrators and students. Our schools should teach courses and assign students to specific courses more suitable for their future educational needs," she stressed earlier.

Mrs. Salmond believes increased communication between parents, students and administrators is vital and she continues to advocate that job vacancies must be filled by people in the school district or those willing to move into the district. "If I am re-elected as a member of the board, I will try to continue to be the best of my ability to promote these goals," she stated.

Research study on heart attack victims

"Can heart attacks be prevented by lowering cholesterol?" This is the question asked by a team of researchers conducting a national study of the relationship between heart disease and cholesterol.

Most heart trouble results from atherosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A clue to the cause of atherosclerosis may be that cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in diseased arteries. But it is still uncertain whether lowering cholesterol can actually prevent heart attacks.

The research team working at four clinical centers hopes to answer this question. The University of Minnesota clinical center is seeing persons in this area aged 29 through 64 who have had their first and only heart attack within the past five years and are free of diabetes, stroke and heart surgery.

Those interested in more information may call the University of Minnesota Hyperlipidemia Study center at 612-376-4494.

Industrial pretreatment plan approved by council

An industrial wastewater pretreatment program, requiring 17 key industries here to pay an "equitable" share of the cost of monitoring and cleaning up industrial wastewater discharged into Granite City's sanitary sewers, has been given the "green light" on a 13-0 vote by the Granite City Council.

At the same meeting Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward and chairman of the pollution plant committee, told aldermen he is not sure the plan can live within this fiscal year's budget.

Aldermen also voted 13-0 approval on Decatur's motion to put a hiring freeze on the wastewater treatment plant as an economic measure, intended to eventually cut the wastewater staff by attrition.

However, the motion could, at some time, conflict with a memorandum of agreement signed Aug. 18 between the city and the International Union of Operating Engineers 525, which represents employees at the plant.

The memorandum - the result of a compromise between union members and the city trying to balance the wastewater plant budget, stated "the plant will be operated and maintained by 26 employed members" of the union.

Decatur had opposed the memorandum, doubting the plant's budget, based on 24 employees, could support the salary of 26 workers. Before the memorandum was passed, the council had twice voted to lay off four employees, which would have reduced the staff to 24.

Decatur said the wastewater plant's budget this fiscal year was intended to be 10 percent lower than last year, but he told the council Tuesday he was "not so sure" that it would now be possible. Decatur then made his motion that the city hire no additional wastewater plant employees.

Decatur also reviewed on the council floor a four-month fiscal report on the wastewater plant, pointing out to the aldermen that salary expenditures alone based on current rates, could bring the plant $68,000 over budget by the end of this fiscal year.

Last August, when Terrance McMillan, superintendent of the wastewater plant, urged the council to consider the pretreatment program ordinance, he said passage of the ordinance could help balance the wastewater plant's budget, already about $33,500 in debt to the city's general fund.

Savings could be realized with the new program through curbing of pollutants damaging wastewater plant equipment, by more accurately measuring industrial use, and by supporting a portion of McMillan's salary and other staff members directly through industrial payments.

The final vote on the industrial pretreatment program was taken Tuesday without any further discussion by aldermen on the federally-mandated program, which must be operational by December, 1982.

"The ordinance was developed by the city to prevent industrial pollutants from entering the city's wastewater plant and interfering with the treatment operations, passing through the plant, or contaminating the sludge," stated the ordinance.

The program, to provide proper reporting of industrial wastewater flows and pollutant loads, to force industries to live up to the terms of city-issued discharge permits, and thus ensure equitable assessment of costs and collection of user charges.

but we're not, I believe there are at least two reasons for this. "First, many small businesses are not aware of the program. Secondly, some business owners who know of the program are leery of an enterprise—no matter how attractive—that involves federal and state agencies, underwriters and lawyers.

"They fear entangling themselves in unending red tape, consuming time and incurring huge legal and administrative expenses.

"To be sure, there are information forms to be filled out and completed to be organized and presented, but the authority and underwriter have thorough knowledge of the process and help the company every step of the way," Bean pledged.

"In addition, the authority waives for small businesses two fees charged large corporations. These are a $1,000 application fee and an insurance fee, one-fifth of one percent of the bond's face value. All costs incurred by the company to issue the bond are included in the amount to be financed through the sale of the bonds.

"In other words," Bean said, the company raises through the bond not only the money it needs to buy the pollution control equipment, but also the money needed to issue the bonds." Bean, who says he is always glad to come to this area to meet personally with any interested businessman and to aid him in determining if the IEFFA program is suitable for the type of program, the business or firm is considering.

He said he has a number of loan requests in various stages of processing. Some are just starting the application process and some are nearly complete. When they are completed, I will match their request up with other requests into one large bond issue to suit their needs," Bean said. He noted he has just completed a $3.28 million bond issue to aid four companies: American Disposal Co. of Berwyn, Brooks Disposal Service Inc. of Northbrook, H. Kramer & Co. of Chicago, a smelter and refiner of copper base alloy scrap, and Custom Aluminum Products, Inc., South Elgin, Chicago, Ill., 60602, phone 1-312-793-5586.

responsibility and balanced budgets to Illinois government—which has occurred over the past five years.

"It has also been a source of satisfaction to have successfully sponsored legislation dealing with telephone harassment, fire protection, a golden age hunting and fishing license for senior citizens, a broadened jury selection process, larger penalties for railroads that block motorists at highway crossings, and more revenue from out-of-state trucks, to the benefit of Illinois roads and taxpayers. "It has been a privilege to serve the citizens of the 56th Legislative District, and I look forward to continuing to serve throughout the year of 1982 while a manufacturer of doors and other home building products.

Types of processes he says he could help finance include water filtration systems for electroplating firms, transfer stations for solid waste handlers, electrostatic precipitators and bag houses for foundries and casting operations and sewage pretreatment equipment.

In some cases, the equipment can save money, such as recycling equipment for wastewater. For, industries charged sewage treatment fees according to the volume of waste discharged, recycling the water can lead to reduced sewer bills, he said.

Bean, who has been executive director of the IEFFA since April, 1978, said he will be glad to talk to industrial groups, Chambers of Commerce and civic groups to try and spread the word of the services available to small industries through IEFFA.

He said arrangements for personal visits by him to industries or businesses may be made by contacting his office at 100 North LaSalle St., Room 1903, Chicago, Ill., 60602, phone 1-312-793-5586.

completing my fourth term in the General Assembly," Steele concluded.

The new one-member 11th District includes Rep. Steele and Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City). Wolf will seek reelection. Three-member districts will no longer exist after 1982.

Negotiations in Venice continue

Negotiations are continuing between representatives of the Venice Board of Education and the American Federation of Teachers Local 965, with the next negotiating session set for Wednesday, Nov. 4, it was reported at last week's school board meeting.

A session between the two groups, scheduled at 6 p.m. last Monday, was cancelled at the union's request. The board presented a proposal to the teachers' representatives last week with the offer to be relayed to the union membership at an Oct. 23 meeting, it was learned.

The Venice teachers' working agreement expired June 30, but it had been agreed earlier not to initiate talks on a new contract until after Oct. 1. In the board session, Darlene Smith was appointed head cook at the Venice schools. She replaces Beatrice Wigfall who had asked to return to the job of regular cook.

Also approved was a maternity leave of absence for Belva Ashford, an intake counselor at Venice Lincoln Technical Center, and the resignation of Frances David, bookkeeper in the superintendent's office for the past two years, was accepted.

The board agreed to go ahead with the installation of a fire suppression system in the Venice cafeteria, a project discussed at earlier meetings. A quote from Dron Electrical Co. of $1,496 for the electrical work was accepted.

The equipment to be installed by Fire Safety Sales and Service of Wood River at a cost of $714, was recommended by the state insurance inspector and should reduce the schools' insurance rates. Supt. of Schools Robert Vickers informed the board.

Await jail ruling on deal

By MARK RESMANN
The ruling which saved the old Madison County jail from demolition may be appealed by the Madison County Board, Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, said.

Smith said Thursday he thought the feeling of the board is to "fight it as long as they can."

He said he will propose the appeal at a special county board meeting tonight.

"The county isn't going to maintain the building, and I bet the City of Edwardsville wouldn't spend a nickel on it," he said.

"The shape the building is in now, it's a real asset to Edwardsville," he added sarcastically.

A ruling Oct. 28 by Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell denied the county the right to raze the old jail's original cell block and sheriff's quarters.

The same ruling said the Goshen Preservation Alliance has no valid lease with the county for renovation of the 11-year-old jail.

The GPA has claimed a moral victory even though it lost the case. One of its objectives has been to prevent the demolition.

"We knew in our hearts the contract with the county (to take over the jail for refurbishing) wouldn't stand, but at least the building is safe," Judy Isellhardt, a member of the GPA, said.

Jack Frandsen, a member of the County Board's building committee, said he hopes Edwardsville officials will have the foresight to allow the county to raze the building.

"A new administrative building would look much nicer downtown. It would cost too much to fix up the old jail," he said.

Smith said "nobody is going to do anything with the building. It'll just be an eyesore," he said.

Smith proposes sending a delegation of County Board members to visit the Edwardsville City Council. The two groups will "talk off" — voicing their opinions on the matter, he said.

"The situation is like two people in a sinking boat, both refusing to bail," he said, referring to each governmental body's future involvement with the jail.

Smith said the intentions of the GPA in the renovation proposal were good, but that he thought the group was dreaming. "They're a bunch of nice people but I don't think they could restore it for $80,000 as they had planned," he said.

The GPA had intended to install a new heating and cooling system and make overall improvements on the building. It was then going to turn the jail, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, back to the county.

The group had federal grant money available at the time. It also had volunteers "ready to go," according to Judy Isellhardt.

Instead, the county said no contract ever existed between it and the group, and approved a $35,000 contract to raze the structure.

The GPA succeeded in stopping the demolition temporarily by winning a restraining order, but that still didn't help the building, in a deteriorating condition.

"When the tornado came through this spring, it left a hole in the roof of the jail that's never been fixed. Now, much of the interior will probably need more than just painting and cleaning up," she said.

"It's cost a lot more to fix it up now."

She said the county's stated intention to use the jail property for a new administrative building is new.

She claimed the county previously approved selling the land to a car dealer for approximately $75,000.

"There's plenty of room behind the original structure to build an office," she said. "We don't want to keep the entire structure, just the original cell block and sheriff's house."

"It really burns me up. It could have been finished by now," she said. "The county would have had the structure preserved."

According to her, the grant money is no longer available. "The county blew it," she said.

She added that the city, which has already designated the jail a city landmark, has most of the say in what happens to the jail now.

"Maybe Kenneth Eavers has been for the jail since elected, and he's going to try to get together with the County Board," she said.

Frandsen said he thought the Goshen group had no right to say where the county should locate its offices. He said the problem now is the fact that the county has offices all over town.

"That's the purpose of the proposed administrative building, to locate all the offices in a central place, getting the most out of county employees," he said.

According to Frandsen, the jail property won't be sold. "That's a lie," he said, referring to the Isellhardt's claim.

"They're (Goshen) basing their operation on hearsay," Frandsen said.

Training grant to Precoat

Six Illinois firms including a Granite City plant will receive $443,448 to train and upgrade the skills of 386 employees through the state's industrial training program.

The program, administered by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, allows expanding or relocating industries to receive direct reimbursement for a portion of the wages paid to employees while in training.

"This is an incentive that benefits both business and government," Governor James R. Thompson said Thursday. "Besides giving assistance to industries, this program has saved the state unemployment insurance and welfare costs and has increased the Illinois economic base through the creation of additional employees."

Now in its third year, the industrial training program awards funds to eligible firms on the basis of three criteria: the first is financial soundness; it is legitimately expanding; and a need exists for the firm to expand or relocate.

Precoat Metals of Granite City will train 50 new employees and upgrade the skills of 12 existing employees.

The company is a subsidiary of Chromalloy-American Corp., a "Fortune 500" firm that pre-coats steel and other metals for other companies, a DCCA spokesman said. Precoat is located on Highway Three a mile south of I-270.

The department also is talking with various firms interested in training an additional 1,500 employees at a cost of $2 million. The return to the state treasury in the first year of the state's investment would be in excess of $2.5 million, it is estimated.

During the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1981, the industrial training program helped train and employ 1,007 persons in 25 firms statewide. Annual wages of $12,375,491 were generated, bringing in tax revenues of $1,671,493. Program expenditures for the period were $1,483,075.

"This is just one example of the many successful efforts being made to improve job and business opportunities in Illinois through a state government and business partnership," Gov. Thompson said.

Kenneth Rozell, Navy enlistee in training

Kenneth Rozell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Free and David E. Rozell, all of Granite City, left Thursday for boot training at Great Lakes Naval Station.

After the 8-week training period he will be assigned to a school for mechanics, the selected vocation he requested in the delayed entry program of the U.S. Navy.

The local serviceman attended Granite City High School South and had enlisted in the service for a four year tour of duty, in January 1981.

Check trucks for radioactive loads

Illinois State Police have begun issuing new radiation detection devices to each trooper in the Hazardous Material Section.

"These detectors will give troopers assigned to this unit the ability to detect radiation to ensure compliance with state transportation regulations, and also will be used in cases of accidents involving possible radioactive spillage," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

The 46 detectors were purchased at a cost of $110,000 by the Illinois Department of Transportation. Sixteen of the 46-trooper unit have had detectors on loan from the federal government.

Corporal John Nordin, director of the State Police Hazardous Material Section, said the monitoring equipment mounted in squad cars is sensitive enough to discover 10-level radioactive material carried by other vehicles while the officers are on patrol.

All Hazardous Material officers will be trained in use of the new devices prior to receiving the equipment. It will be maintained and calibrated for accuracy by Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety specialists headquartered in Springfield.

The department has the responsibility to coordinate the radioactive materials enforcement program carried out by the DOT and State Police.

"The Illinois State Police is the largest single agency in the nation that monitors highway shipments of radioactive materials," Nordin noted.

Brown of the Mudge, Reilly and Lucco law offices of Edwardsville, representing Woodrome and merchants supporting Woodrome's position.

Woodrome's legal complaint argues that the sales tax, formally titled the Supplemental Retailers' Occupation Tax, is actually an occupation tax, which state law limits to one cent per dollar purchase. The state now collects a one percent Retailers' Occupation Tax. The city of Chicago, however, is among cities successfully collecting an additional sales tax similar to the one established here.

City attorneys "have agreed to answer (the complaint) expeditiously," Papa said. "To move it along."

Technically, Lucco has agreed to withhold making for an injunction until Nov. 12," Woodrome said.

"It is one of those deals that shouldn't happen. The legality can't be determined before the collection begins," Woodrome said.

In Woodrome's opinion, merchants "are on their own to decide whether or not to collect the tax until Nov. 12. If the tax is upheld, the merchants will be responsible for paying the one percent. Each has to use his own conscience."

Alan Richardson, new executive director of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, however, said he was advising merchants to collect the tax, despite his own appeal to the council asking them to amend the tax to an amount less than one percent.

Woodrome first threatened court action against the city on behalf of the city's automobile dealers, if the council did not consider amending the tax to exempt automobile dealers and other merchants who sell expensive items.

Both Woodrome and Richardson contend businesses selling high dollar items, such as cars, will not be able to remain competitive with businesses in the areas surrounding Granite City which do not have an added sales tax.

Woodrome said the tax could add $100 to $150 to the price of a new car, driving most car buyers, and some car dealers, out of the city.

A company supplying more than a million dollars a year in equipment to Granite City Steel has already inquired about locating outside the city limits, concerned that they will become an unattractive business to the steel company with the extra one percent charge, according to an officer of the Granite City Board of Realtors.

A businessman explained that any sale to a business or individual of an item which is not to be immediately resold is a retail sale and is subject to the new tax. Sales intended for resale, such as merchandise delivered to a store, is considered wholesale and is not subject to the tax, until it is sold to its ultimate buyer.

Both Woodrome and Richardson have said they believe the city is in need of additional revenue, despite measures taken already, including employee layoffs, budget cuts and curtailment of most capital expenditures.

The tax is expected to generate about $1.5 to $1.9 million yearly, unless the sales tax is reduced to one percent. The city. The start of this fiscal year, the city has borrowed $1.2 million in tax anticipation notes and warrants, authorized borrowing an additional $400,000 more, and expects to end the year with a $400,000 deficit if a new source of revenue is not found.

Woodrome presented the city council with two resolutions at the Oct. 6 council meeting, asking that the Supplemental Retailers' Tax exclude that portion of the selling price of an item that exceeds $500, and to also exclude the sale of new and used automobiles.

Instead, Woodrome suggested that the one percent tax on automobiles be paid directly to the city by the purchaser of any automobile, new or used, through the sale of the city's automobile stock.

The tax currently excludes automobiles purchased by city residents elsewhere in the state. A spokesman for the Illinois Secretary of State's office has said, however, that his office will add the city tax to the cost of any new car purchased out of state by a Granite City resident. That tax will be charged when the auto is licensed in Illinois, he said.

However, new and used cars purchased in Collinsville, Edwardsville, Washington Park or other Illinois city, will be exempt from the one percent city tax, in its present form, leading to Woodrome's objection that the tax is putting dealers here under an unfair disadvantage.

Under the ordinance, merchants are required to obtain a certificate of registration from the Granite City Department of Revenue within 30 days of retailer's start of business. Failure to comply with the rules or regulations of the department could result in a misdemeanor offense carrying a penalty of six months imprisonment or a maximum fine of $1,000 or both.

Merchants are allowed to retain two percent of the actual tax collected as reimbursement for their time spent in record keeping and meeting the requirements of the tax.

News notes

The Illinois legislature adjourned Friday until Jan. 13, with most votes accepted and only $9 million added to the list of scheduled state expenditures. The state will begin monitoring day care centers, including those run by churches.

The State Elections Board is studying whether to postpone until January the Dec. 7-14 candidate filing period for the March 16 primary election, if legal battles over legislative and Congressional redistricting delay issuance of district boundary maps.

East St. Louis tavern hours have been extended to 24 hours a day. Gun sales may be banned by that city.

Postcards being mailed to residents by a township official raise the prospect of financing schools other than with property taxes, and link such a proposal to two School Board candidates. School officials today said they know of no such financing proposal being actively discussed in District Nine.

Amsted income down; fewer orders for railroad products

Amsted Industries, Inc., announced last week that net income for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, was $50.6 million, or $4.68 per share, down from the record high of $71.2 million, or $6.60 per share achieved last year.

Steel firm, owns the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

Robert H. Wellington, president, said net income amounted to six percent of sales, compared to 7.8 percent in 1980.

The lowest margin resulted principally from a reduced volume of railroad products, but they were produced at a more profitable, full-capacity, operating level for most of last year, he said.

Sales totaled $537.1 million, down nine percent from the record $594.9 million a year ago.

Railroad product sales of $364.3 million were down 10 percent from $404.9 million, or 22 percent. This decrease reflects a lower level of new freight car buildups, following a record building rate in the prior two years.

Construction and building products sales amounted to $237.1 million, up six percent or $13.8 million. The increase came from higher sales of valves, pipe and pipe coatings for gas distribution and oil and gas gathering, and from increased ductile iron pipe sales for water distribution.

Sales of general industrial products were $255.5 million, up $12.2 million, or six percent. Higher sales of roller chain and wire rope to the mining and oil field markets accounted for the majority of the increase.

Both construction and building and general industrial product sales were at 2 percent levels and accounted for 18 and 29 percent of Amsted's pre-tax operating income for the year, compared to 4 and 20 percent in 1980. Railroad products' share dropped from 76 to 53 percent.

Operating income for the railroad segment decreased in 1981 primarily due to lower sales volume. But price weaknesses, particularly in the last quarter, also had an adverse impact.

The higher income from construction and building products resulted from increased sales and from improved margins in the valve product line.

Dividends were a record $2.48 per share in 1981, up six percent from the $2.34 per share paid in fiscal 1980 and up 33 percent from the $1.86 paid in fiscal 1979.

This is the tenth consecutive year that higher dividends were paid. Quarterly dividends have been paid continuously for Amsted for 41 years.

Wellington said property additions in 1981 were $60 million, nearly double the $31.9 million in 1980. The largest expenditure was for a new railroad wheel plant in the Columbus, Ohio, area.

Construction, which began in 1980, will be completed by mid-1982. The plant will have capacity to produce 200,000 wheels per year.

Major expenditures were incurred to increase production capacity for freight car trucks, diesel locomotive wheels, wear pipe products, roller chain and piston pins.

Projects were started to expand wheel capacity to serve the western Canadian market and to increase production of railroad couplers.

Expenditures for property additions in 1982, excluding acquisitions, are expected to total $60 million, most of it to complete the projects currently under way.

Working capital on Sept. 30, 1981, was $137.7 million, down $27.3 million from a year ago. Cash and short-term investments were $29.2 million, down $2.8 million.

There was no short or long-term debt in either of the past two years.

Wellington noted that Amsted's backlog of unfilled orders on Oct. 1 was $225 million, compared to $333 million a year ago.

Most of the decrease was in orders for new and repair freight car components.

Unfilled orders for construction and building products, which historically have represented the smallest portion of the backlog, are down from the start of the fiscal year. There are lower orders for valves because of reduced power plant construction and cutbacks in funding for new sewage treatment facilities.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products is up from a year ago, reflecting higher orders for mechanical power transmission components for the mining and oil field markets.

Wellington said, "The outlook for fiscal 1982 is for lower earnings. The number of freight cars ordered in 1981 was the lowest in over 20 years.

"While the order rate may improve for freight car components, sales and profits are expected to be below 1981 for at least the first half of the fiscal year."

"Railroads are being favorably affected by higher freight rates, deregulation and good traffic level."

"The energy-efficient railroad traffic is expected to continue to increase and result in a strong long-term demand for new cars."

In addition, changes contained in the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 should have a positive long-term impact on railroads.

"High interest rates continue to be a depressing factor in the housing industry and will continue to unfavorably affect sales of construction and building products. Long-term, this segment should benefit from the deferred demand for housing."

"The outlook for general industrial products is, in part, dependent on the strength of the general economy. Increased mining and oil field activity should favorably affect results in 1982."

ALL DRESSED UP and enjoying it is Harry Craine, whose friends at the Colonades helped him dress in feminine fashion, including fingernail polish, bangles and beads, plus a stylish hat, for Thursday afternoon's Halloween party. Sheiks, witches and other seasonal characters were in evidence at the event, proving Halloween is not only confined to milk strickers.

New GC plant can coat 160,000 tons of steel a year

PRECOAT METALS, which opened for testing runs last week, is expected to begin full production this week. Above is a diagram of the path steel follows through the 600-foot-long plant while the metal is treated, coated and finished.

The plant can paint 160,000 tons of sheet steel annually and uses the latest sophisticated pollution control and energy conservation features. At the right is an interior view of the plant's equipment and facilities.

Madison election could bolster revenue base, ease tax burden

To the Editor:

A "Yes" vote for home rule on Nov. 3 would:

- Increase one hundredfold the revenues enjoyed by the City of Madison as owner, not lessee, of a cable TV company.
- Strengthen Madison's financial base.
- Minimize the risk of future municipal service and personnel cut backs.
- Allow our city, as owner, to control cable programming and emphasize our community's needs, especially senior citizen assistance.

—Leave the issue subject to reversal in a few months if "home rule" proved unacceptable.

With a "No" vote on Nov. 3, the City of Madison has nothing to gain and everything to lose. We are not putting ourselves in a high-risk situation with a "Yes" vote for home rule. Rather, we are simply recognizing the potential opportunity it offers.

In the case at hand, home rule primarily means cable TV ownership.

And that means new sources of revenue that, if properly conceived, could eventually reduce or even eliminate certain tax levies.

Madison police pay is not high

To the Editor:

According to a recent statement made by City Comptroller Al Hudzik, the Madison Police Department is "top heavy" on salaries. If a thorough evaluation is made of city salaries, it would be very apparent that there are ways to cut back, and not just with the police department.

First, our comptroller has a salary of $23,000 per year, plus expenses. This seems a little high for a city with the population of Madison.

Also, the comptroller's projected salary for 1982 is $25,000, plus expenses. Why is there no cut here?

The projected increase for the police department for 1982 is $50 per month. The comptroller's increase last year was 19 percent and the police department's was eight percent.

We also have an alarm director who has a salary of $21,000 per year. He has one part-time employee who works for him and does all the repair work. Why is his salary more important than the police department's?

I hope the residents of Madison realize that they do have a good police department and the men are not overpaid.

I think it is about time the city considers cutting salaries of other city officials and employees instead of making this an issue that revolves around the police department.

Any city anywhere in this country needs police protection — we live in the present, not the Dark Ages.

Also, why not cut expense accounts like Granite City? This would save money, too.

Area urged to vote for Esther Vasileff

To the Editor:

Esther Vasileff is the only candidate from Granite City for the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees, Nov. 3.

Having attended BAC in West Granite, I know firsthand the need to elect more trustees from our area.

At present we have only one representative from the Tri-Cities on the board.

If we are to increase the number of subjects taught, and correct other practices which are not conducive to attracting a substantial enrollment, we must elect more local representatives. Mrs. Vasileff has pledged to work for an improved BAC in Granite City. She understands the problems we face and the greater need we have due to inflation, to improve our local colleges.

When you vote on Tuesday, Nov. 3, please vote for Esther Vasileff, No. 109 on the ballot, and give her the ability to keep more of your BAC tax dollars where they belong, in Granite City.

Need nurse education loan plan

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Illinois Nurses' Association, representing this state's registered nurses, I would like to express our appreciation to Representative Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) who voted to override the governor's veto of HB 108, appropriating $300,000 for a nursing education loan program.

The motion to override the veto failed by two votes on Oct. 15.

HB 108 was an attempt, supported by the Illinois Nurses' Association, to address the critical shortage of nurses in this state. Illinois nurses are extremely disappointed at Governor Thompson's apparent lack of concern about this critical health care issue.

Legislators were heavily pressured by the governor's office to sustain this veto. Nevertheless, 193 representatives did withstand that pressure and voted to override the motion.

The nurses in this area greatly appreciate the commitment of Rep. Wolf to good health care, and thank him for his support.

Home rule issue involves trust

To the Editor:

Fellow citizens of Madison, for weeks now, you have had a chance to read numerous articles for and against home rule.

Now, the time has come to make a decision, go to the polls, and vote for or against home rule.

Remember, if you don't take a few minutes to go vote, you are leaving the decision-making to a few. This could cost you a lot in the years ahead, in the form of higher taxes, etc.

If you vote for home rule, you will be giving your elected officials unlimited powers to tax you more.

The people who have been asking home rule have asked you to trust your elected officials. Well now, go and think about it for a minute.

These elected officials, without asking you to vote on it, just hit you with a five percent utility tax, which is the highest that the state law allows without home rule. If they don't want to raise your taxes, why do they need home rule? They claim you need home rule to make your elected officials more responsible to you the people who put them in office.

Well, stop again and think about it. You have been voting them in and out of office for years without home rule.

What's home rule going to do now, except give them unlimited powers to tax you more?

Remember, if you don't vote, you have to it to a few who do, to make the decision. Their decision could hurt you.

Let's get out Nov. 3 and take a few minutes to vote no to the referendum to make Madison a home rule city.

Schermer for 3 college board candidates

To the Editor:

I am writing you in my capacity as a member of the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees. In the Oct. 29 paper you did an excellent job of endorsing Esther P. Vasileff for election to this board.

You didn't endorse any other candidates and, since there are three members to be elected, I feel strongly that something should be said regarding the other two seats.

Esther Vasileff is running with two others whom I heartily endorse; they are Homer J. Liebig and Donald Lee Jerome.

They have chosen the "Harmony Party" and believe that these three would serve the public well if elected.

Homer J. Liebig is a very dedicated man. He served with distinction as city clerk of the City of Belleville, and though he is retired, he is a vigorous and energetic man who has the time and the inclination to do the job as trustee.

Donald Lee Jerome is a doctor of medicine who has been interested in BAC for years (he is a former president) and presently serves us as an advisor to our student Nursing and Allied Health Programs.

Therefore, I urge you and vote tomorrow, but to help us make BAC a better school by electing Liebig, Jerome and Vasileff (Nos. 104, 105 and 109 on the local ballot).

Candidate running as independent

To the Editor:

In the editorial section of the Press-Record of Oct. 29, you recommended Mrs. Bosworth and Edward Dohal to the voters of Madison for the two seats on the Madison Board of Education.

I think these two people, along with Mrs. King, are very good candidates for the board.

I know Mrs. Bosworth, and Ed Dohal is a very close personal friend of mine. I appreciate the kind words said about me.

However, I don't know where you got the idea that I have close political ties with the city organization. I ran as an independent candidate for the board seat.

As for my resignation in 1977, I was re-elected by the voters to a second three-year term in April of 1977 and resigned in December, nine months later, simply because I moved out of the school district.

I returned to the city in March 1980, and fully intend to remain at 2038 McCasland Ave.

I just want the parents and citizens of Madison to know the facts as they are.

Overpass area student hazards

To the Editor:

When the 19th Street overpass was built, our children were not thought of.

There are many children who have to go to Emerson School. They don't have a crosswalk or crossing guard to help them across busy streets.

Because of the heavy traffic from the overpass, it is very hard for small elementary children to cross.

When weather worsens, the overpass will become slippery and it will be hard for motorists to stop for small children who wish to cross at the bottom of the hill.

Concerned parents feel it is necessary to have a guard to help our children to cross safely.

Mrs. Stevens active, qualified

To the Editor:

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club is endorsing Mrs. Valerie Stevens as a candidate for the Granite City Board of Education, District No. 9.

We feel Valerie is very well qualified for this position due to her being in the educational field as a teacher for the past 30 years.

She has been involved all these years with youth, and knows the needs of our youth, as well as the concern of parents for what is going on in our schools.

She also keeps herself very involved with an educational organization, Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, along with several other organizations and also her church.

We have learned through the years, as fellow BPW members, that Valerie is a very honest and sincere woman and deeply concerned about the type of education needed for our youth.

We, therefore, feel she is more than qualified and are very pleased to endorse her and extend her our complete support.

'Cutback' one of factors in Rep. Steele's decision; consolidation law calls for school elections tomorrow

Today's announcement that Everett G. Steele, Glen Carbon, a former Granite Cityan, will leave the Illinois House of Representatives after his fourth two-year term causes considerable sadness here. Legislative "reform" approved by voters will end the 59 three-member House districts after 1982 and establish 18 single-member districts. Rep. Steele's decision makes Rep. Sam Wolf, Granite City Democrat, a heavy choice to win reelection in the new district that will include the Quad City area.

Rep. Wolf also has a fine record and probably would have been the favorite in a head-to-head vote battle between the two friends, a clash that will not occur due to today's decision.

A Republican (the minority party hereabouts), Rep. Steele nevertheless has been a big vote-getter. Aided by cumulative voting, he led all Madison County legislative candidates in the past two House elections.

In discussing his decision to leave the General Assembly more than a year from now, Rep. Steele commented, "With new district boundaries recently created, I feel that I could again be a successful candidate, although an extremely active campaign would be required. However, I have recently become involved with new business activities" which would limit the time available for campaigning and legislative service.

What does he regard as his chief accomplishment? He says, "It has been a source of satisfaction to have successfully sponsored legislation dealing with telephone harassment, fire protection, a 'golden age' hunting and fishing license for senior citizens, a broadened jury selection process, larger penalties for railroads that block motorists at highway crossings, and more revenue from out-of-state long-haul trucks, to the benefit of Illinois roads and taxpayers."

Rep. Steele also has been instrumental as a legislator and as an Appropriations Committee member in "restoring fiscal responsibility and balanced budgets to Illinois government." He worked cooperatively with the Republican governor and the Democratic senator from this district on many issues.

His common-sense, hard-working, goal-oriented approach to legislative tasks will be missed.

As noted, the net result of the legislative "cutback" amendment is saddening. Another big election change, the statewide consolidation law, also leaves us unsure that it is a step in the right direction.

In any case, these new approaches are "the law of the land," and it will be important that voters make the best of the election consolidation and turn out in large numbers tomorrow.

Most of major interest locally are the Madison city "home rule powers" proposal, selection of trustees for the Belleville Area College district, and election of school board members in the Venice, Madison and Granite City unit districts. Four-year board terms are to be decided.

All of the issues scheduled for Nov. 3 are well worthy of the time required for citizens to go to the polls and cast their ballots.

Sykes supports Dewey Melton

To the Editor:

Tomorrow, Nov. 3, is the date for the Granite City School Board election. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. with local voters having the opportunity to elect three members to the board.

Voting will occur within the respective precincts, as the election is now conducted by the Madison County clerk's office. In most cases, residents will vote at the same location as they did back in the Spring elections.

We will have the opportunity to elect three members to our board. One of those elected will serve the unexpired two-year term created by the resignation of Steve Salich. Turning for the two-year term is a very good friend of mine, Dewey Melton.

Dewey is a man with much board experience, yet he also has fresh enthusiasm, he has the determination and character to do that which is in the best interest of our school district, yet he has the sensitivity to hear the single voice and understand the problems of all.

If a candidate can be elected based on his caring attitude for the position he is seeking, then Dewey should be a certain winner.

With four of his own children presently in the school system, he is certainly aware of the value of providing the best educational possibilities available. He also realizes he must balance his responsibility to our children along with his obligation as an elected official to the taxpayers to provide them with the maximum benefits for their tax dollars.

In addition, it is his feeling that the teachers must earn a respectable wage, so that their families may enjoy a good quality of life. It is a difficult task, but Dewey has demonstrated he is capable of achieving this delicate balance.

In a time when all of us are interested in electing qualified, dedicated people, I highly recommend Dewey Melton for the two-year term to the Granite City school board.

Madison board recommendations

To the Editor:

Citizens of Madison, on Nov. 3 are faced with an issue that is very important to our town — home rule.

Another issue that we have failed to look upon with any importance and that we will be asked to vote on at the Nov. 3 School Board election, which also is an important factor in Madison.

Education of our children must have a high degree of importance to every parent, grandparent and guardian. Being on the Board of Education for the last four years and being the second oldest member, I would like to share with you my views on the board that we have in existence today.

There are seven members of the Madison Board of Education, seven different viewpoints, and seven different personalities.

All of these are some of the reasons I state that this has been one of the better boards I have served on and been involved with.

We are going to the polls to fill two positions, one held by Richard Zeiselt, and the other by Mrs. Billie Boerwirth.

First, speaking out on Mrs. Boerwirth's position as a very conscientious board member. She is very interested in education, extra-curricular activities, and the overall running of our district.

For the other open position, the incumbent is not running. I would recommend this being filled by Ed Bohal. This gentleman has children in our district and has shown quite an interest in our school system and in the quality of education that is being provided in Madison School District #2.

Citizens of Madison, I know how important the other issue is to all of you, but please do not forget your children. Ask that you vote for Mr. Billie Boerwirth and Ed Bohal on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

People paying for city services

To the Editor:

Citizens of Madison, on Oct. 25 the city again accused the concerned citizens of grinding an axe.

If trying to protest our city is grinding, then it is time for the city to pick up an axe.

Again, City Hall went back four or five years and brought up that they blacked the streets. Well, we paid for it to be done.

They bring up the new trash containers and, again, we paid for them. So when are they going to stop saying "I gave you."

They did not give us anything. We paid for them ourselves out of taxes.

And we will pay again if the city administration gets their home rule passed. They can say that it is only to be able to buy the city cable TV now, but what about next year or for that matter, what about next month?

What will happen then with the power they will have? God only knows what will happen.

They say they want to build housing for the elderly. I say that is an effort to get the vote. They don't need home rule for housing.

HUB will help pay for it, like they did in Venice.

What train storm will be next? A watering tank for horses? A landing field for the Goodyear blimp?

We will be doing ourselves a favor by defeating home rule on Nov. 3 and keeping our town alive.

ALLEN DICOTT

Praise students who deserve

To the Editor:

As the parents of one of the principals of the play, "Bye Bye Birdie," we would like to thank the writer of the letter who praised the play. We wondered if anyone notices.

All those praised, plus Mary Ann Bright of the Music Department at South and Beverly Scroggins of the Speech Department, did a superb job.

As usual, the good work of these decent, hard-working students and teachers was mostly overlooked. Last, it was said that if one of the students had been involved in something bad, it would have made headlines.

We hear much of the failures of our youth. We know many who are struggling to maintain good grades and high moral standards, but are seldom noticed.

We are told that Johnny cannot read, does a king, and fast, crazy driving by teens causes our car insurance to be high.

That is the picture of many youngsters, but we can tell you there are a lot of "kids" out there who would love to reach out to the reason so many cannot read is because good grades never get so much attention as shoplifting.

Each of us has a desire to be known. If the only way to become known is by breaking the law, or by making the winning score in sports, perhaps it is easier to break the law. Not everyone can be a touchdown.

If I never became front page news that 35 juniors were expelled from the National Honor Society at South of 40 students maintained straight A's on their last report cards, perhaps we might see pride in those accomplishments again.

If there were a chance he might see his or her name in print, Johnny or Joanie might start to read.

Again, thanks to the writer of the letter praising our great efforts in South's homecoming play. It warmed our hearts and it will kindle a desire in the hearts of the actors to do even better.

Sales tax due to inept planning; writer favors a city earnings tax

To the Editor:

It is ironic indeed that our democratic system dictates that we consider as authorities on problems solving those very individuals who personally created the problem.

A glaring example of that paradox is our current temporary funding shortfall in Granite City.

It is obvious, even to the casual observer, that budget management by elected city officials is, at best, "hand-to-mouth."

Less than six months ago, the city budget was contested by several aldermen, who fully recognized the need for constraint and the curtailment of expenditures. They were silenced rapidly by the administration, and a worthless budget was passed.

Granite City has been managed for over eight years in a way that has emptied the city's pockets at each and every opportunity.

With an eye to the future, little attention paid to the past, and a frivolous approach to the day-by-day present.

Our sorry fiscal monetary condition has not been brought on by external circumstances. It has been generated by patronage and blatant irresponsibility in the management, or lack of it, of fiscal affairs.

Now we are told that the only answer available to us which will avert disaster is an increased sales tax.

At this point, I do not doubt the veracity of that statement. But we have been backed into a corner by mismanagement and lack of foresight.

The solution proposed is a "big-dick" expedient at best, and one which will not serve the community well in the long run.

The sales tax increase is a short-term "fix." It is not a cure. In the long run, it will create future deficits by running businesses and businesses out of Granite City, thereby eroding the tax base.

A complete and thorough analysis of the Granite City complex would reveal a community that harbors heavy industry and thrives on its existence.

The subsidiary businesses that exist are little more than feeders and offshoots of the heavy industrial base which is Granite City.

Organized effort by this county's taxpayers leads to tax cut order

To the Editor:

The efforts of the Organizing Committee for Eastern Madison County paved the way for a major victory this fall for the county's farmers — a court ruling, ordering the county to issue amended property tax bills, removing multipliers previously applied to farm buildings.

The court order, issued by Chief Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barron Wednesday, Oct. 22, supports a Sept. 16 County Board recommendation that the bills be released.

This victory is the latest in a series of triumphs for the Organizing Committee, in its current campaign on this year's property tax bill problems in Madison County.

At their Sept. 16 meeting in Hamel, OC members voiced their concerns about a number of tax bill-related issues, which officials then began to address.

A method was developed by Madison County to automatically grant the Bill 176 exemption to all eligible taxpayers in future years, without requiring the yearly applications.

A speeded-up bill correction process is now being used for eligible taxpayers who did not receive the 176 or senior homestead exemptions they applied for. The corrections will be made before the second tax installment is due, without calling upon these taxpayers to shoulder the burden of proof imposed by paying under protest.

Next year's assessments have now been officially lowered for farmers in many Madison County townships, beginning the process of permanently removing the illegal multipliers previously placed on farm buildings.

And now, the multipliers are to be taken off this year's farm building tax bills.

It just goes to show how much power we average taxpayers can have when we organize and work together for our rights.

If the Organizing Committee hadn't gathered our members together to speak as one united, powerful voice, this year's tax bill problems would have never been solved, and we would have the same problems over and over again every year.

The Organizing Committee has a history of successful efforts on property tax issues in Madison County, starting in 1976, when the members successfully challenged too-high tax multipliers in the rural townships of Madison County.

The 1978 efforts resulted in lowered multipliers in several townships.

ORGANIZING COMMITTEE
FOR EASTERN MADISON COUNTY

Very candidly, if he won't think ahead on his own, then the people will simply have to do his thinking for him and demand that he enact the legislation necessary to stabilize the present and at the same time make positive and progressive plans for the future.

I have no personal quarrel with the mayor, but I am completely fed-up with the lack of foresight and inability to manage effectively that has plagued his administration.

I am quite certain that there are many in this community who share my disillusionment.

BRUCE M. MORT
"A Property Owner" in Granite City

At the same time, close scrutiny of work force will also reveal that a large number of them contribute no tax dollars whatsoever toward the maintenance of this city.

These workers take money from the Granite City area each and every payday, and they put nothing back into it. They live in surrounding communities and their tax dollars and personal expenditures are contributed to those communities.

They use Granite City streets to travel to and from work every day. Yet, not one cent of any tax money which they pay is ever used to refurbish those streets. And that is only one example.

The residents of Granite City have been footing the bill for a number of other communities too long. It is time that came to a halt.

True, a city earnings tax would impact a number of people who work in this city and also live here. But it would also generate tax revenue from a large number of individuals who pursue their daily bread here and contribute nothing.

I believe that a fair and impartial review of the group of people who fall into this category of "taking money from Granite City and contributing nothing" would be shocking to most of us. It would include the vast majority of high-salaried individuals who work for the large industrial firms which are our economic base.

A city earnings tax would fairly and equitably distribute the tax burden on all of the people who derive their personal sustenance from within the city limits.

At a recent civic meeting, Mayor Paul Schuler addressed the issue of a city earnings tax by dismissing it as non-feasible due to Illinois state law.

What he was really saying was that the dilemma which we face "we're out of money" — won't wait long enough for our home rule system to test the state water with a tax, the only tax that would be equitable.

He aptly described a local sales tax as the only viable avenue of approach to solving the immediate problem.

Once again, the taxpayers of this community are being victimized by a City Council and a mayor who lack the foresight and planning capability to develop more palatable alternatives in a timely manner. The mayor described a city earnings tax as "illegal."

The only thing illegal about a city earnings tax is the felonious way in which time has been allowed to slip by, the only viable, short-term solution to our problem is a tax which will further deteriorate an already depressed business climate in our city.

But it is the last straw, the only way out. We are broke and there is no other way to remain solvent.

I propose that we allow the mayor to enact legislation which he sees as a one percent sales tax, but that the legislation be so worded to make that accommodation a temporary one.

I further propose that the sales tax be subject to public referendum if it is not repealed within 18 months.

Meanwhile, I recommend that the same legislation challenge the mayor of this city to vividly and actively pursue the enactment of a city earnings tax, to be put into effect not later than the termination date of the current temporary legislation of the one percent sales tax.

This approach is not only practical, but it will satisfy both the short-term and a long-range requirements.

It can solve our short-term problem, address the long-range needs, and challenge the mayor to produce something of meaningful impact to this community long before his present term of office expires.

Very candidly, if he won't think ahead on his own, then the people will simply have to do his thinking for him and demand that he enact the legislation necessary to stabilize the present and at the same time make positive and progressive plans for the future.

I have no personal quarrel with the mayor, but I am completely fed-up with the lack of foresight and inability to manage effectively that has plagued his administration.

Utility taxes can rise

To the Editor:

The Madison city administration has been telling the senior citizens how much they are doing for them and how home rule is going to save them money.

They have forgotten to tell you citizens how much you are paying in utility taxes.

As senior citizens, you have the 1790 Bill exemption plus the homestead exemption from your property taxes, but the utility tax is imposed on the necessities of your life—the power, heat, water and phone.

There is no reduction or exemption for you on the utility tax.

And the escalation of that tax is built in—each time the utility costs rise, the tax you increase as well.

But they have the utility company to blame. It didn't raise your tax; the utility company raised their rates. If your utility bill is $100, the bill will be an additional $5.44. But when the utilities raise to $120, the tax being added will be $6.53 for the same amount of cubic feet or kilowatt hours.

So, think before you vote Nov. 3—cap your pocketbook starting with utility taxes.

JESS H. TAWNEY
1818 Fourth St

TO THE CITIZENS OF MADISON,

November 3, 1981 is the date that you will be asked to make a very important decision concerning the future of our City. That is the date you will cast your ballot for or against the Home Rule proposition for the City of Madison.

I'm sure you have received much literature for and against the Home Rule issue and you may be having a tough time trying to decide which information is true and accurate, and which is not. The one point that I would like to get across to you is that the people making statements and circulating figures against the Home Rule proposition do not have to provide anyone with any documentation of any kind, and their figures are not subject to any kind of an audit. They have conveniently resorted to telling half-truths or presenting incomplete financial data in an attempt to confuse the voters on the issue of Home Rule.

On the other hand any and all financial figures of the City of Madison must be documented for presentation to the financial institutions, who invest in our City's bonds, and the annual budget of our City and the actual statement of receipts vs. expenditures must be published yearly in the newspaper for the benefit of our residents. All of these figures are audited annually by an independent Certified Public Accounting firm to verify their accuracy.

In the eleven years of the current City Administration we have never resorted to mudslinging, criticism or the degrading of our opponents or the use of false advertising to cloud the issues as the opponents of Home Rule have done during this election campaign. But just for the record let's take a look at the nucleus of the opponents of Home Rule, who they are, and why they are against Home Rule and the current City Administration

- (1) The Chairman of the Citizens Against Home Rule (an ex-Madison Police Officer) has had his house up for sale many times (with many different realty companies) during the past few years. Do you really think he's concerned about the future of our City or is he just waiting for the interest rates to come down so he can sell his house and move out of Madison?
- (2) You have several people who are either ex-policemen, either retired from the Police Department or currently working as Policemen, who are resentful because they were not appointed as Chief of Police, or their salary demands were not met by the City Council because they would have created even more financial problems for our City. One Police Officer who has taken an active role against Home Rule has asked the City Council many times to pass the utility tax (with no mention of decreasing any other tax) so the Police Officers could be given bigger pay raises. Do you think these people are really concerned about a majority of the residents in the City of Madison, or are they resentful and frustrated and looking out for their own self benefit?
- (3) An ex-Nameoki Township Trustee who was defeated during last April's election approached the Madison City Organization for a campaign contribution before his election, but he was refused because he switched from one political party ticket to another political party's ticket, and the Madison City Organization does not believe in that type of politics. I would like to ask the people living in Nameoki Township and within the corporate limits of the City of Madison to list all of the improvements that have taken place in their area using Nameoki Township funds during his four year term in office.

- (4) A young lady who has spoken at their meetings and to many of our residents chose to move out of the City of Madison and into a different part of Madison County. Do you think she is really concerned about the future of Madison?
- (5) Other people opposed to Home Rule are friends or relatives of the above people or they either supported candidates who ran for office against some of our current local elected officials or actually ran for office themselves. I feel these people are more frustrated over their own defeat rather than concerned for the benefit of a majority of the residents of our town.

The big question to be answered on November 3, 1981 is whether you are going to listen to the Madison Concerned Citizens Against Home Rule, a group of people who I have challenged to submit their recommendations and suggestions for the betterment of Madison, but who have yet to offer one suggestion or recommendation (incidentally they always seem to lose their concern about the City of Madison after election day) OR will you be guided by a City Administration with a proven track record that has implemented and successfully completed many projects for the benefit of the City of Madison and its residents. We want to continue offering the many fine services to which we have all become accustomed in the past to our residents in the future.

DO NOT BE MISLED by a group of individuals whose concern for your benefits is questionable — if Home Rule passes you will receive many benefits from the revenue the City will receive from its cable TV system. Have FAITH and CONFIDENCE in the local elected officials who have served you well.

Chief Veizer, Mrs. Wiesehan, Sgt. Bill Harris and Patrolman Steve Willaredt. The gift check came from proceeds of a fund-raising drive, sponsored by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 1347. Division 5 auxiliary meets

Mrs. Glenda Brockman of Granite City, president of the Amvets Auxiliary Division 5, conducted the divisional meeting last week at Amvets Post 4 in Mount Vernon.

A special guest, Mrs. Nina Cornell, Illinois Amvets Auxiliary president, is planning to visit each auxiliary unit in the state during her term of office, she informed the group.

Members of Amvets auxiliaries from Granite City Post 51, Madison Post 204 and the Mount Vernon unit were present and heard an announcement that Mrs. Betty Wilkins of Post 51 has been named winner of the National Amvets Americanism award.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Ann Tucker of Granite City, senior vice president, and the Amvets Prayer was offered by Jenny Kidwell. Both are members of Post 51.

Mrs. Wilkins, Post 51 hospitality chairman, presented an American flag to Shirley Eller, of Post 4.

Donations of $25 each were authorized to the VA Hospital in Marion, Ill., and the John Cochran Veterans Hospital, St. Louis. Other donations of fruit and magazines were sent to several area nursing homes.

Appreciation for an earlier donation was expressed in a letter from the chief of the Volunteer Service of the Veterans Administration at Marion, who said the funds will be used to provide large print Bibles for patients.

An invitation was extended by Post 4 Commander J. A. Shokaker to attend a testimonial dinner, planned next spring, in honor of State Commander Don Russell. A while elephant auction was conducted and refreshments were served by Madison auxiliary members.

Lutheran Marriage Encounter set

An information night for the Lutheran Marriage Encounter program will be held on Sunday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m. at Our Lord's Lutheran Church, 150 Wilma Drive, Collinsville, the Rev. R. L. Butler, announces.

Rev. Butler added, the project is not a retreat but a program designed to give couples the opportunity to examine their lives together, their weaknesses and strong points, their attitudes toward each other and toward their families.

Both the information night and marriage weekend is open to all couples regardless of faith. However, the Encounter is conducted in the framework of Christianity and is expressed in the traditions and understanding of the Lutheran Church, the minister added.

COOLING UNITS GONE

Two air-conditioners were stolen early Friday from the construction site of a Bissell Street apartment project. Venice police noticed a gate lock had been broken, and contacted the Wilson Construction Co. and France Plumbing & Heating Co.

STUDENT ENTHUSIASM is expressed as they receive books in the Reading Is Fundamental (R.I.F.) program at Emerson School. On Friday there were approximately 290 students who walked from the school to Wilson Park to benefit the program. This year the school gave $300 towards the project and the government provided $900.

BOOKS AND MORE BOOKS. The display of reading material at Emerson School is a result of a government sponsored program. Reading Is Fundamental (R.I.F.) For every $1 the school provides to R.I.F. the government supplies $3, for the purchase of elementary school books.

Emerson School pupils holds RIF benefit

Students at Emerson School participated in a walk from the school to Wilson Park on Friday to benefit the Reading Is Fundamental (R.I.F.) government sponsored reading program. There were approximately 290 students taking part in the event, which was designed to provide monies toward the purchase of books. For every $1 the school donates the government will supply $3. This year the school has given a total of $300 and the government has contributed $900.

Emerson School is one of three schools in the Granite City School District involved in the R.I.F. program, according to Joseph Haefner, director of the reading project.

He said the books will be distributed five times during the school year with the initial presentation held on Thursday.

The director added, with the budget cuts made so far he is concerned that the government may not furnish money next year for the program. He requests any local business or organization in Granite City that is interested in sponsoring the R.I.F. program to contact him at the school.

Emerson School has received over 3,500 books from the event since 1979, and this arrangement is considered an important part of the students curriculum, Haefner noted.

Boy, 14, badly injured in falling from new overpass

Richard Perigo, 14, of 2700 Denver St., suffered severe injuries at 7:30 p.m. Friday when he fell off the new 19th Street overpass while walking across it.

Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, he underwent surgery. He had internal injuries and fractures of the pelvis and both wrists.

Tim Holman, 18, of 2005 Bryan Ave. said he was walking on the pavement of the traffic overpass and that Perigo was walking westerly atop the ledge along the southern side of the structure.

When the 14-year-old momentarily looked back at Holman, he lost his footing and started to fall. Holman grabbed him by the arm but was unable to prevent him from going over the side of the overpass.

Perigo fell 77 feet to the ground at a point 32 feet from the eastern end of the overpass.

Holman stopped a passing motorist, who telephoned for the police. When an officer arrived and summoned an ambulance, he found Perigo lying on his back on the ground.

The boy was conscious and reported pain in his right arm. He had lacerations about the chin and mouth.

FIVE CHARGED AFTER YARD FIGHT OCCURS

Disorderly conduct charges were filed at 11:30 p.m. Friday against Cindy Cotton, 18, of 101 Wilson Park Lane, David Filter, 18, Mitchell, and three 17-year-olds, Daria Modlin, 2236 Rodger Ave., Vince Fisher, 119 Wilson Park, and David Cotton, 101 Wilson Park.

The arrests took place at 307 Wilson Park Lane, home of Mrs. Donna Boaz, the complainant, and her daughter, Karen Boaz, 17. Authorities were told a dispute started earlier at a restaurant and resumed with fighting in the front yard of the residence.

HEALTH WISE

BY DR. E. L. STROTHER, D.C.
CHIROPRACTIC PHYSICIAN

ANCIENT AND MODERN HEATING

The use of manipulation for healing, as practiced in chiropractic, is not new. In fact, manipulative procedures may be one of the oldest of all the ways that man has used to cure illness and provide relief from pain.

Chinese documents dating back to 2700 B.C. mention manipulation for healing. Manipulation was used extensively by the early civilizations, including the Greeks, Egyptians, Syrians, Tibetans, Aztecs and Incas, to name a few.

Many people today have learned that chiropractic manipulation is the answer to health problems that defy other types of treatment. It will pay you to investigate. There is no charge for consultation.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Jones

Jones-Maurice

A cousin of the bride, the Rev. Gary Perret, of Holy Family Seminary in Overland, Mo., officiated at the double ring ceremony, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Arrangements of autumn flowers and greenery decorated the sanctuary and a program of pupal selections was provided by the church organist.

The former Miss Maurice wore a full length white chiffon gown fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a sheer yoke and high stand-up collar, accented with Schiffli embroidery and Venice lace. The decorative trim was repeated on the long bishop sleeves and deep cuffs. Her softly flowing skirt extended into a wattle train with a lace band encircling the hemline.

She wore a lace camelot headpiece to hold in place a fingertip veil enhanced with daisy Venice lace. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white snowflake mums and small lavender carnations. A patron of honor, Mrs. Mary Messinger, a sister of the bride, selected a deep lavender chiffon gown designed with a high lace neckline and handkerchief hemline.

The bridesmaids Miss Patricia Maurice, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Nancy Sherlock were attired in identically styled gowns as the honor attendant in a pastel lavender hue. They all held bouquets of lavender, snowflake mums and carnations.

Robert Long attended the groom as best man and Bradley Roberts was the groomsman.

Big Red back to old ways in loss to Washington

Special to the Press-Record
WASHINGTON — It was a little too late. St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart almost pulled another game out of the fire here Sunday. But it wasn't enough. Washington's Redskins claimed a 42-21 victory.

It seemed almost like the days of the mid-70s when the Cardinals were known as the "Cardiac Cards" and pulled game after game out of the fourth quarter after falling behind early.

But, unfortunately for St. Louis, it was the Cardinals of 1981 who had dug their own grave early. Mistake after mistake had allowed the Washington Redskins to claim a 21-0 lead early in the game. That ballooned to 28-0 before Hart began his last period heroics. After a Hart-to-Roy Green 11-yard touchdown pass made it 28-7, a long kickoff return by Washington put the Redskins back in business inside the Cardinals' 10-yard line. Washington quarterback Joe Theismann tossed a 10-yard TD pass to Art Monk shortly thereafter to make the score 35-7.

Back came the Cardinals. On their next possession, with Hart passing as if a gunfighter with both six-shooters blazing, the Big Red moved down the field. Hart hit Pat Tilley in the end zone with a touchdown pass from 14 yards out. That made the score 35-14. There was still plenty of time remaining in the game.

After forcing the Redskins to punt on their ensuing possession, the Cardinals again marched down the field. Hart found Tilley with another 14-yard touchdown pass to make it 35-21. If things kept up this way, an overtime game wasn't out of the question.

But Hart's fourth interception of the game on the next St. Louis possession squelched all worries the Redskins may have had. John Higgins powered in for four yards out three plays later to make the final score 42-21.

"We dug our own grave," said Hart. "It was obvious. The interception. The first two were just plain flat-out bad passes by me. The others were just good plays by the Redskins. I'm not saying they weren't my fault, but (Washington) were in the right place at the right time and made good plays."

Hart's second interception of the game could well have been the final nail in the coffin of St. Louis, even though it came in the first quarter. The Cardinals had taken all the way down to the Redskins' one-yard line. But Washington linebacker Mel Kaufman intercepted Hart's pass in the end zone after an offside penalty against Cardinal Barney Cotton had moved the ball back to the five-yard line.

"Jumping offside on the goal line is a cardinal penalty that never should have happened," said St. Louis coach Jim Hanifan.

Hart took the blame for the interception. "I should never have thrown the ball," he said. "I should have run it in. Maybe I wouldn't have scored, but I wouldn't have thrown an interception, that's for sure."

The first three times the Redskins got their hands on the ball, they scored. That was indeed a pit the Cardinals couldn't escape from. First it was a 38-yard pass from Theismann to Monk past a beaten St. Louis defensive back Carl Allen. The second was on a flare-out pass from Theismann to Virgil Sey. Allen went for an interception on the GRANITE CITY — Granite City South's David Paz doesn't always listen to his head coach, Gene Baker.

But Baker doesn't always mind. Like Saturday night.

Paz's second-chance penalty kick goal in overtime Saturday night gave South a 1-0 victory over Granite City North and the sub-sectional championship. The victory means that South (15-3-5) will play Collinsville Tuesday night in the Collinsville Sectional.

During practice last week, Baker told his players not to change directions of their penalty kicks unless he gave them his permission.

Paz was South's fifth kicker. If he made it, South would win. Under Baker's instructions, he aimed his kick to the left side of the goal. North's keeper Rick Branding blocked it. The official ruled he moved early, however, giving Paz another chance.

Now Paz had a decision to make. He decided to aim his kick the other direction, despite the instructions from Baker.

His instinct paid off and the ball sailed by Branding, giving South the victory.

"I'm glad he didn't get mad," a relieved Paz said after the game.

Baker was far from mad after Paz's successful second attempt. He was savoring the victory, accepting hugs and handshakes of congratulations. Before accepting any, however, he gave his own congratulations to North head coach Bob Kehoe.

"You're never proud of a game unless you beat a team that's a good team," Baker said. "North has nothing to feel negative or bad about."

Both coaches agreed it was unfortunate penalty kicks had to decide the game.

"They're so thrilling but they have a lot of irony to them," Baker said. "I wouldn't want to lose a game like this but it's nice to win it like that."

"It does not prove who's the better team," Kehoe said. "It just proves who's better at kicking a dead ball which really has little to do with the game of soccer."

While the South fans were celebrating the victory and dancing to Charlie Daniels' "South Is Gonna Do It Again," the North team was quiet. Seniors Brian Pickens and Kendall Whittington sat on the bench side by side. Pickens wiped a tear out of his eye. Whittington had his head buried in his sweats. Their soccer career for North was over.

The rest of the players moved slowly toward the bus, their heads hanging low. During the bus ride back to North, there was total silence.

"It really touches your heart to see them like that," Kehoe said. "After all that training, games, knocks and bruises, to have a two game season is not a very big pay-off."

Kehoe admitted the team was not used to being in a penalty kick situation.

"The majority of the fault could well be within myself," Kehoe said. "We rarely ever practice penalty kicks. We had not done against us or one for us during the regular season."

Baker credited his team with being emotionally stable throughout the game, an asset he felt was the deciding factor in the game.

"We worked very hard this season to win this type of game," Baker said. "Consequently, this victory tastes very good to us."

South still had a bad taste in their mouth from 1974, when they lost to North in the sectional finals in a situation reminiscent of Saturday night's finish. They didn't want it to happen to them again.

The game was very physical and high strung, with North whistled for 39 fouls and 22 for South. At times it looked like the players had come for a boxing match instead of a soccer game.

"It was not the greatest game I've ever seen between the two schools," Kehoe said. "Both teams realized it was now or never. That accounts for the fierceness of competition."

Trojans dump Red Bud easily

By ROGER KRAMER
For the Press-Record

MADISON — In recent seasons, the Madison Trojans have lost football games they never had a chance of winning. In those games, nothing went right for the Trojans until the winning team would put its reserves in the game.

The Trojans played one of those games Saturday, but this time the Trojans were on the winning end. Madison defeated Red Bud, the only school in Illinois to add varsity football this season, 30-6.

Madison coach Al Vonderhaar understood the problems Red Bud had in building the program since he has had to rebuild the Madison program, so he gave his reserves a chance to play even though he could have run up the score on the Musketeers, 0-6 this season.

"They are in the same situation we were two years ago. They played a tough game, but they never got on the track," Vonderhaar said. "I felt we had control of the game after halftime, and we could have score two or three more times, but I knew they're going through."

running plays on its first scoring drive. The Trojans exploited the off tackle runs in that series and in most of its other scoring series. Rich

Buttler scored Madison's first touchdown on a one yard run. A pass from Danny Stern to Willie Ball on a fake kicking conversion try put Madison ahead 6-0.

They gave us the off-tackle hole and dare us to go in it against their firing linebackers. We blocked the pass rather than the man and we were successful," Vonderhaar said.

The Trojans intercepted a pass in the early part of the second quarter to set up a touchdown.

Madison, 2-5 overall and 2-3 in the Quad County Conference, travels to Freeburg Saturday at 1 p.m. Freeburg is still a contender for the conference title.

Sarah Golliday of Lincoln was the girls winner (12:27) over the two-mile course. Pam Quarenghi of Collinsville was second (12:30). Spitta's Mary Blach was third in 12:51. Juanita Cotton of Lincoln was fourth in 13:01.

And Hughes of Hillsboro was fifth in 13:04. Kathy Dubaz of South finished 11th in 13:37. Other South times were: Michelle Shoemaker 15:01 in 13:47, Mary Romine 22:01 in 14:09.

But Steeler harrier Jim Robertson will advance as an individual.

In the girls meet, Lincoln won with 33 points. Granite City South finished second with 79 points. Belleville East

Paul Gompers of Belleville East was the individual boys winner with a time of 15:23.

The players admitted they can tell when state tournament time is rolling around. For the first time all season, they said they looked forward to practice last week.

It was a good thing they did.

Every day in practice last week, head coach Gene Baker made the team work on taking penalty kicks. Time could have never been better spent.

Beat SIU-E 2-1

Billikens keep 'Boot'

By TERESA GULL
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — St. Louis University's John Hayes proved that patience and determination does pay off.

In Friday night's Bronze Boot game against SIU-Edwardsville, Hayes had a show all night by the name of Greg Fleher. For 45 minutes, Fleher effectively shut out Hayes.

But when Hayes finally beat Fleher, he took advantage of the situation and scored what was the winning goal in SLU's 2-1 victory over SIUE.

Greg contained Hayes very well, Bob Guelker,

SIUE coach said. "He got one opportunity and he made good on it. He didn't beat just one player, he beat two. It was a fantastic effort on his part."

When Hayes scored his goal with only 4:46 left in the game, it appeared to be just extra padding.

Combined with Bill McKee's first half goal, the Billikens had a 2-0 lead.

The value of SLU's second goal became evident when SIUE came back to score with :50 left in the game, trimming SLU's lead to one goal.

Hayes' goal.

Harry Keough, SLU's head coach, said even though he felt they controlled the ball better than SIUE, he wasn't overly pleased with his team's play. "We won the ball game and that's what matters," Keough said.

"What you saw out there tonight was a lot of tough playing and spirit and not a lot of quality play."

SIUE's defense wasn't exactly lax either but SLU made the most of two SIUE defensive lapses.

SLU went ahead with 9:49 left in the first half on the alert play of former Granite City South standout David Fernandez and the game's most valuable player McKee. Fernandez quickly put into play a free kick to McKee, who was breaking down the middle.

McKee beat two SIUE defenders, Bill Stallings and Greg Fleher, and pushed the ball past goalie Mark Downar.

Hayes took a pass from Mike O'Mara near the left corner of the field, dribbled past Fleher and another SIUE player, along the endline and flicked the ball into the opposite corner of the goal.

"He was coming close all game," Keough said. "He finally put it all together."

Fernandez makes adjustment to 'big time' college soccer

ST. LOUIS — The transition from playing high school to college soccer is a difficult switch for any soccer player to make.

Combine it with being a member of a state soccer championship team for four years, a two time high school All-American, a three time Illinois All-State player, a draft of San Diego in the North American Soccer League and a holder of a full ride soccer scholarship to St. Louis University, and the adjustment is even more challenging.

People expect more. There is more pressure.

David Fernandez knows. He is the person holding all those honors.

Fernandez was feeling the pressure when SLU's practice began this fall. For the first time in four years, he wasn't the only outstanding player on the team.

He started doubting his abilities and worried that he wasn't playing up to his capabilities.

Like he always managed to do while being a top-flight player for Granite City South, however, Fernandez came through.

He scored the first goal of the season for SLU against the University of Connecticut.

Fernandez really took a lot of pressure off of me. It gave me a lot of confidence," Fernandez said. "I started thinking maybe I can do it in college like I did in high school."

Fernandez thought right. Though he hasn't been the spring threat for SLU like he was at South, the two goals and two assists he has scored have come in crucial situations.

Take for example his second goal. It was the game winner in a 1-0 shut out over nationally ranked David Fernandez warms up before Friday's game.

Indiana. In Friday night's Bronze Boot game against SIUE, he was credited with an assist.

Naturally, Fernandez is pleased with these accomplishments. But he's not as pleased with his scoring fetes as he is with his overall play as a starter for SLU.

"I've feel I've done more than an adequate job for a freshman in my first year," Fernandez said. "I haven't gone up or down and played real bad or good, but I've stayed steady."

Steady play. Coaches like to see consistency. It's this consistency and his competitive drive which has pleased SLU head coach Harry Keough.

"David's got a lot of fire. It's part of the Spaniard in him," Keough said. "He's an excellent player but he's never satisfied with his own performance. He's his own worst critic."

Fernandez's Spanish descent is evident in more than just his last name. His curly brown hair, warm brown eyes and dark feature point to his heritage along with his fiery play on the field.

His competitive drive became evident against Rollins, a Florida team, in a game a couple of weeks ago. He was receiving a pass, when he was kneed in the lower back.

He got back spasms and couldn't walk for a couple of days. Despite still being in a considerable amount of pain, he was back in the starting line-up for their next game.

A big help for Fernandez this year has been the four other freshmen starters for SLU, especially the keeper Pat Baker, who is the cousin of Granite City South's head coach Gene Baker.

Fernandez doesn't have any regrets about not going to SIUE, the team SLU faced in the Bronze Boot. He's confident SLU is as much of a threat for the NCAA tournament as SIUE.

Fernandez's eyes sparked when he talked about the NCAA championship. He would like nothing more than to be part of a team who claims that title.

"Being a freshman starter on a high school state championship team is one thing but being a freshman starter on a NCAA championship team, now that's a real honor," Fernandez said.

North, South advance to final

GRANITE CITY — It was a good day for Granite City's high schools Thursday. Both Granite City North and defending state champion Granite City South advanced in sub-sectional action at their respective home field. North defeated Cahokia 2-1 and South bombed Madison 6-0.

The North Steelers defeated Cahokia 2-1 but Steeler coach Bob Kehoe wasn't impressed by his team's play.

"You try to tell the boys to play just one game at a time, but how you get them to do it is another thing," Kehoe said. "A player knows when he only has to put out a certain amount of effort to beat a team, and they start to look forward for the real test."

North scored quickly in the first quarter. Tim Dean took a pass from Paul Barrington and kicked in the Steelers' first goal 2:11 into the game.

North's other goal also came in the first quarter when Eric Mass kicked a bounce from 15 yards out to give North a 2-0 with 7:19 left in the first period.

With a 4-0 game in the second quarter, Mike Dale kicked a shot on goal. North goalie Rich Branding would have had a save, but a North back headed the ball out of Branding's reach.

In South's easy win over Madison, it was obvious that the Warriors were looking past the Trojans in the first quarter. Even though South controlled most of the action, the passing wasn't exceptionally sharp and Madison had a couple breakaways by Carvel Taggart that almost put the Trojans on top early.

But after a heart-to-heart discussion with his team between periods, Coach Gene Baker's team dominated the action.

Althoff downs Warriors

GRANITE CITY — The Belleville Althoff Crusaders gave it their all. They did all they could Friday night in defeating Granite City South 21-0. The victory meant a share of the Gateway East Conference football championship with Granite City North. But when word came that North had defeated Edwardsville 3-0 in overtime, it meant that there would be a new Class 4A state champion this year. Althoff, the defending champ, would not be making a return trip to the State Playoffs.

Since North had defeated

Althoff 7-6 earlier this season, the Steelers got the playoff berth. Althoff waits for next season.

Althoff coach Glen Schott was proud of his team, even though the mood was more one of defeat than a shutout victory. "Conference champs three years in a row," he said. "Maybe people will learn not to count us out."

Althoff scored its first touchdown on a 15-yard option keeper by David McFarland, who swept around right end with about eight minutes remaining in the second quarter. Brother Kevin McFarland added the extra point to make it 7-0.

With 1:14 remaining in the first half, McFarland scored his second touchdown of the evening on a one-yard plunge following a long drive down the field. The key play in the drive was a 20-yard run by running back Terry Mitchell on a third down-and-eight yards to go situation at the South 49-yard line. The run gave the Crusaders a first down at the Warriors' 20-yard line.

With just over a minute remaining in the third quarter, Althoff scored its final touchdown. Kevin Schott scored on a four-yard run.

Coach Schott had nothing but praise for South, which saw its record fall to 0-8 on the season. "I think Jerry (McKeehan, South head coach) has done a good job with that team," he said. "They've been playing very well all year long. But they just can't seem to get over the hump. They need to win a game and I think things would turn around for them. Those kids haven't thrown in the towel. They'll be a team to be reckoned with next season."

season end in October. They're also not used to having their season end against North. That's happened only once — in 1974 when the Steelers advanced to the State Finals.

The South team took nothing away from North. Although they are intense rivals on the field, members of the two teams are good friends when they are not playing soccer against each other.

"I wish both teams could go on," Paz said. —TERESA GULL remembering Baker's words of advice.

"Coach Baker said it's a privilege," said keeper Joe Lemaster, who successfully denied North's first two attempts. "It's an honor to take them and it's a honor to stop them."

David Paz, who made the fifth and decisive penalty kick, almost echoed Lemaster word for word. "Coach Baker says you should feel privileged to take a penalty kick," Paz said. An honor. A privilege. Having that type of attitude in a high tensioned situation helps relieve the pressure.

It also helps to know if the game is lost, the season is over. South isn't used to having its soccer

By ROGER KRAMER
For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The two teams the Granite City North football team could rely on this season, its defense and Darren DePew, teamed up to defeat the Edwardsville Tigers 3-0 in overtime Friday and ensured North a spot in the state playoffs.

North will play Wednesday, Nov. 11, in the preliminary round of the playoffs. The time, the place, the opponent, and the class North will play in will not be determined until Saturday's action is completed.

North, with an enrollment of approximately 1,434 students, could either qualify for the Class 4A or the Class 5A playoffs. In the football playoffs, the 96 teams who are conference champions or qualify for at-large berths are divided into six classes of sixteen teams by enrollment.

Last season, Class 4A qualifiers had enrollments ranging from 969 to 1,438 while Class 5A qualifiers ranged from 1,439 to 1,880.

The only thing certain about North's status in the playoffs is that it is in the playoffs. Although North, Edwardsville and Belleville Althoff shared the conference title, North goes because it defeated both Edwardsville and Althoff this season.

"It's better than last season when we had an 8-1 record and didn't make it," North coach Tom Wyrostek said. "We had super football player last year who didn't make it, and the one who came back had in their hearts they wanted to win, and they wanted to know what it was like to go in the playoffs. I guess they know now."

The Steelers found out what it was like to be a playoff team thanks to a strong defense effort and DePew's 27 yard field goal.

Neither team could score in regulation time, forcing the game into overtime. On the flip of the coin before overtime, the Steelers already won the first battle. They won the flip and decided to play defense first.

With the ball on the 10 yard line, run by the Tigers' Kevin Mosby and Jean Edmond brought the ball to the four yard line. On third down, Tiger quarterback Mike DeLeonardis completed a pass to Dan Pizzini that would have been a touchdown, but Pizzini was caught using his hand to push his way past the North defense and the ball was moved back to the 18 yard line.

"It was mistakes like that which hurt us," Edwardsville coach Dick Ford said. "There was no reason that he could have waited and gone around them instead of pushing them. He didn't have to push them."

DeLeonardis moved the ball to the 11 yard line on the next play to set up Mosby's 26 yard field goal attempt. Mosby, who kicked two 27 yard field goals in Edwardsville's 18-10 victory over North Oct. 16, missed to the right.

North wanted no time to win the game. DePew came in on first down to kick a 27 yard field goal. The ball easily cleared the crossbar, and DePew was immediately surrounded by his teammates to celebrate the victory.

"I'm glad the center (Brad Watson) and the holder (Allen Pregel) did a good job of getting the ball there. They've done a good job of that all season," DePew said.

"It was a great team effort," DePew said. "We've gotten along well all year, and everyone puts in a good effort every game. If someone gets his name in the paper for doing well, everyone else isn't jealous, and the ones who get in the paper don't let it get to their heads."

It was DePew's teammates, particularly the defense, that allowed DePew to shine. Although Edwardsville gained 154 total yards compared to only 73 for North, North's defense came through in the clutch moments. For instance:

—Two pass plays in the first quarter moved the Tigers to the North's 27 yard line. The Tigers tried four running plays and gained just four yards.

—In the second quarter, the Tigers had the ball on the North 35, junior quarterback Wendell Brown and Mosby mixed up the running play, fumbled the ball, and North's Carl Luehmann recovered.

—Edwardsville threatened early in the fourth quarter and had the ball on the North 39 yard line. Brown was sacked for a 12 yard loss to spoil the drive. That sack could have been the game-winning defensive play.

"That's what we come here to play," Wyrostek said referring to the defense.

"Coach (Bob) Stegemeier has done a super job with the defense all year long."

Meanwhile, North's offense couldn't get any sustained drive going. All 73 of North's offensive yards came on running plays. Luehmann was 0-of-5 passing.

"We were so hyper for the game that we made silly mistakes offensively," Wyrostek said. "When you play offense, you should be calm, cool and collected, and we weren't. On defense, you can be hyper, but we couldn't make the adjustment from defense to offense, and it was hard for us to get the offense going. Edwardsville's great defense also stopped us."

North's offense stalled near midfield three times, and DePew was called on to try field goals of 61, 57 and 58 yards. An official said his 57 yard field goal was just two yards shy of being good.

"I told Coach Wyrostek that I thought I could kick long field goals tonight if I had to," DePew said.

North's special teams were effective in both kicking and receiving. DePew's punts and the pursuit kept Edwardsville from getting good field position for much of the game, and on the receiving end, Brad Watson returned the ball for an apparent touchdown in the third quarter, but a clipping penalty nullified the touchdown.

North, 6-2 overall, hosts Granite City South Friday at 7:30 p.m.

petition. Neither team was willing to back down.

The play of North's Dan Ritchie and South's Dave Moorhead was indicative of his statement. With 1:35 left in the first quarter, both were issued red cards for fighting and removed from the game. Both teams played a player short for rest of the game.

Baker felt they dominated play, especially during the first quarter when they had seven corner kicks. The only excuse he could find for his team not connecting for a score was the tension and some good marking by North.

Kehoe agreed South dominated play during the first quarter, trying to get a quick score and stun them.

"From there on out, it was like an ebb and a flow, like an ocean tide going in and out," Kehoe said. "Sometimes we took it to them and sometimes they took it to us."

Although noticeably disappointed with the loss, Kehoe did see some positive signs.

"They (the players) learned they can rise above their capabilities and sustain it and play with the best people," Kehoe said. "We couldn't beat them but then again, they couldn't beat us."

play. If he had gotten it, St. Louis would have had six points. But instead, it was the Redskins who got the six.

A bright spot for St. Louis was the running of Otis Anderson, who galloped for 122 yards on 18 carries. It was his first 100-yard game of the season.

The victory for Washington avenged a 40-30 loss to the Cardinals in St. Louis earlier this season. It also dropped the Cardinals into a tie for last place in the NFC Eastern Division with Washington.

6 of 7 on board for Worthen

Pre-election accusations and replies are being voiced by board members and candidates as tomorrow's Granite City School Board election draws near.

President Thomas Miesky, Monroe and Dewey Melton are seeking to remain on the board.

Other candidates are Alan Crider, who opposes Melton for a two-year term, and Mrs. Valerie Stevens. Mrs. Julie Gates, Donald Gargac, Eric Gyaki and Raymond McGee. Seven are trying for the two four-year positions that will be filled.

One of the present Board of Education members, David Partney, issued a press release Thursday evening critical of Worthen. Partney said he planned to use the statement for distribution to voters.

Worthen replied Friday and a statement supporting Worthen and Miesky was issued by Board Members Melton, George Moore, Robert Maxwell and Donald Stucke and former board members Bob Crider, Carl MacLean, Steve Saltsch and Dr. Eugene W. Walton.

The statement appeared to pit six of the seven board members against the stand taken by Partney.

Also responding on behalf of Worthen was Bobby Weis, business representative of Bricklayers Local 10 of the candidates. Gargac, assailed Worthen's board attendance record in a press release Friday.

Partney called Worthen "unworthy of re-election" for five reasons:

1. "Very, very poor attendance. He has missed 50 percent of the meetings since July 1, 1980, to the present. Out of the 26 meetings held, he has only attended a mere 13."
2. "In spite of his many years' experience on the board, he has encouraged deficit spending this coming year of over $2,500,000. This has created a huge deficit despite a need to reduce expenditures."
3. "In my opinion, this shows financial irresponsibility and creates a grossly unnecessary burden on already overburdened taxpayers. Yet, Worthen encouraged passage of this huge deficit spending budget," Partney continued.
4. "Worthen has supported several unnecessary, costly administrative positions which, if eliminated, would save the taxpayers many thousands of dollars."
5. "I have had numerous complaints from taxpayers that Worthen is unavailable at his listed address."

5. "Despite positive proof that a certain non-union firm was short-changing our children, Worthen not only defended the company's actions, he also insisted on renewing the contract. This, in spite of the fact that this out-of-town, non-union firm was just a few dollars below a local reputable firm that employs local taxpaying union personnel."

"If I were asked to pinpoint the main cause of the financial dilemma of the school system, I would have to place the blame predominantly on L. Monroe Worthen, the senior member of the School Board."

"I feel Worthen's attendance and voting record display a gross lack of concern for the taxpayers and children of the Granite City school district. I therefore encourage rejection of Worthen and selection of a more worthy candidate at the polls Tuesday," Partney concluded.

Worthen said Friday in a letter to voters of Community Unit School District Nine, "Members of the Board of Education are elected to serve the community, to help guide and further the education of our children."

"We who were elected serve without pay, but we do try to serve with dedication. Those who have been candidates in the past have tried to present the issues to the people without the use of untruths or half-truths."

"Unfortunately, the present election has been injected with false accusations motivated by persons who I believe have ulterior motives. It is a tactic used in the past in other elections."

Worthen continued, "I respectfully decline to reduce the election of School Board members to a mud-slinging contest."

"I have tried to serve with dedication as a board member for over 20 years. Board members have been criticized, but we have always performed our duty according to our conscience and to the dictates of the law."

"I stand upon my record of experience as a diligent and dedicated board member in response to those accusations," Worthen concluded.

In the statement by the other board members and by four former School Board members, they asserted, "We who have served with Tom (Miesky) and Monroe (Worthen) urge your support for these dedicated School Board members who donate their time to obtain the best education possible for our children."

"They have served with diligence. Their decisions have been dictated by their conscience and by what the law requires."

"The result has been in the best interest of our community and our children. Their experience is required in the uncertain days ahead. We urge their re-election."

Southwestern Illinois Bricklayers Business Representative Weis said, "In response to the news release attacking the qualifications of Monroe Worthen—non-supporting unions—I want to remind the community that, with my personal knowledge, Monroe Worthen has supported the unions of Granite City."

"At all times, he has followed the dictate of the law, which requires open bidding on all school business. The lowest bidder must get the contract, no matter what his union affiliation is."

Gargac said that "in response to the Press-Record endorsement of incumbent board member L. Monroe Worthen, I question the statement of his devoted countless hours of service."

"Worthen's attendance at regular board meetings in recent years does not indicate devoted service."

"He has not attended 13 of the last 25 regular School Board meetings. During the period of Sept. 1, 1980, to May 31, 1981, he attended only six of the 17 scheduled meetings."

"In my opinion, this attendance record does not indicate 'countless' hours of devoted public service. I feel that he is a part-time board member serving our school district at his convenience," Gargac concluded.

Expanding on his statement as a former board member, Saltsch and Saltsch's wife, Linda, issued the following statement: "We want to express our opinion regarding a news release against Monroe Worthen."

"We consider him one of the most qualified and, by far, the best thing that has ever happened to our school system in Granite City."

"He has given of himself so much that he has paid dearly."

"Monroe Worthen is the leadership that we need to continue a strong and healthy climate for our kids' education."

Attempts to frighten starlings to resume

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman of the Second Ward believes the residents in his ward are getting more than a bird's-eye view of an unpleasant "bird problem" and city officials plan to act this week to try and remove the cause.

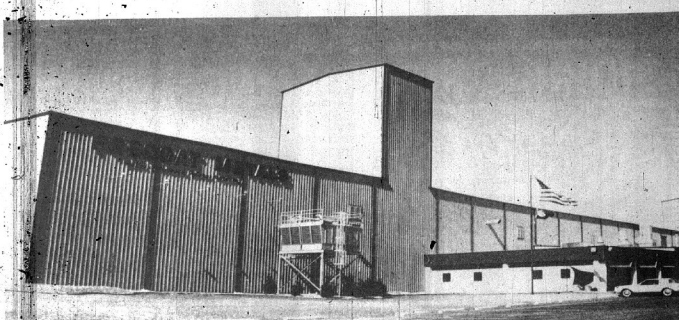

Schuman asked the city council last week to approve $500 more in the battle to remove flocks of starlings in the 2400 and 2500 blocks of Popple, Sheridan, Garden and Hodge avenues and the council approved his request.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer plans to use pop cannons and noise makers on three evenings, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday, the time it will take for the method to be most effective.

"If you have a health problem which might be aggravated by excessive noise, or a pet which might react strongly to the noise, you might wish to make arrangements to be elsewhere on these dates," Brewer advised.

Schuman said the birds represent a health problem and the funds are needed to purchase ammunition for the cannons. At the council meeting, Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward, volunteered to help the city engineer.

Car on sidewalk scatters students

Students leaped out of the way to avoid being injured in front of the Granite City High School South gymnasium at 5 p.m. Friday as an auto traveled along the sidewalk and then ran against the north wall of the main school building.

* Robert Bernard Rohne, 29, St. Louis, lone occupant of the car, was hurt and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was released from the hospital after being treated for abrasions to the right cheek, left wrist, right elbow and right forearm.

He was charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident, reckless driving, and failing to stop at the scene of a collision with an unattended vehicle.

Police reconstructed the series of events as follows:

1. With Rohne apparently asleep or unconscious at the wheel, his auto halted in traffic at Nameki Road and Madison Avenue.
2. When he awakened, the vehicle moved on in what police called a reckless manner.
3. Going north on Nameki Road, the motorist turned
